

Dear Prospective Family,

Let me make this clear: I would not be where I am in my career, my marriage, or my social life without Cornerstone. And while it is only by the grace of my savior, Jesus Christ, that I lay claim to any success, I am certain that He used Cornerstone Christian School powerfully in my development as a Christian and as a man.

I entered the school in my 7th grade year directly from homeschooling. To put it mildly, this was a rough transition.

But I soon learned that this change was one for the better. In every class, we talked about God and the Bible and how it related to what we were studying. Whether it was math, science, Bible, literature, history...you name it, the teachers found a way to take it back to Christ. All the instruction was through that lens and it helped me to understand that my faith doesn't just happen on Sundays. It's a holistic worldview that touches everything I do.

This perspective has greatly influenced my life and there are many fruits that are born from seeking to honor God in every area of your life. For Cornerstone, the rewards were plentiful. The students I was surrounded by were the kind of well-behaved kids that parents dream of having. That's not to say everyone was perfect; but when there were issues, the staff always dealt with them appropriately.

And there was always time for an object lesson. Often, this happened in Bible class, but when a student wanted to discuss his or her faith, there always seemed to be time to have a heartfelt discussion about what it means to be a Christian in today's world. I always felt that if I was struggling, I would have the help and support of my peers and teachers.

Those experiences helped to forge me into the person I am today. Cornerstone is extremely academically rigorous and I'm very grateful that they were! When I got to college, the kinds of assignments we were doing were the same level of difficulty that I'd taken on in Junior High at Cornerstone.

They emphasized reading and writing as a universal skill, and that has served me incredibly well. Because they pushed me and challenged me, I now make a living off of reading and writing as a marketing consultant. That would never have happened without Cornerstone.

Their focus on clearly teaching God's Word and pushing students to do their best in academics has made me the man I am today. I will be forever grateful.

I wish you the best in your pursuit for excellence in your child's spiritual and academic education.

Sincerely,

Kameron Snow
